"ABIDE WITH ME."

"The darkness deepens, Lord, with me abide." A tent-fire gleams upon our island shore, The evening's dusky wings are on the tide— The sunset hour is o'er.

Sweetly the music floats upon the air—
Brightly the firelight shines upon the sea,
And many voices raise a chorus there,
"Dear Lord, abide with me."

This hour is mine to watch, unseen, unknown, I cannot join the lofty melody, Yet I may humbly say before his throne, "Dear Lord, abide with me." P. C. D.

THE OLD STORY.

A violet pathway through a forest olden, Neath tossing trees where summer breezes blow,

And sunbeams send their loving lances golden,
Chasing the purple shadows to and fro.

Beyond, a glimpse of sea is ours to follow-And dewy mosses mark the tufted hay, Where wild-birds fill the air with music mellow, And wind-swept pines whisper that we should stay.

We catch the meaning of the olden story— The story half revealed—so old—so new— "How sweet is life, when love leads on to glory, How sweet is love, when life is pure and D.

BY THE SEA AT NORTHPORT.

The white sails flutter up and down, Some nearing and some leaving town, Upon the summer sea; While here and there and near and far, By rocky ledge and sandy bar, Toss whitecaps restlessly.

Now flashing in the noontide light I see the seagull's wings of white,
Like sunbeams, come and go; And while I watch as in a dream, The sunlit waters glint and gleam, The tide swings to and fro.

The sparkling waves upon the shore Unceasing murmur, as of yore,
Their summer litany;
But, loud and clear, from yonder boats
Across the water merrily floats A song of joyous glee.

O perfect day down by the sea! My heart's in unison with thee, As the hours come and go. Still, while I watch as in a dream, The sunlit waters glance and gleam, The tide swings to and fro.

SEA SHORE FUN.

AN OPERETTA IN THREE ACTS.

ACT I.

Scene-The Bluff. Beautiful mermaids discovered tripping along the shore.

horus. We're daughters of Neptune
And think it good fortune
To bask in the sun with a comb and a glass;
For nature has blessed us—

Yes, kindly possessed us Of beauty (or vanity) seldom surpassed. Tho' bred in the water

We think it no matter
Occasionally to flirt with the men.
Such beautiful faces

Alas! alas! my lot Was hard enough before, But now 'tis doubly hard— I know not what's in store.

An unprotected male Misfortune would not see, But female that I am,

Oh, dear—to be a he. (She seats herself, covers her face with her hands, and weeps.)

Enter a DUDE, with stingy pantaloons, redneck-tie, and poodle. He discovers Reg-

O, my eye! what is that I see?
'Tis a mermaid—yum! yum! tra-la-lee!
But a mermaid with no
Crimson jersey (and beau)
Is no mermaid at all—he-he-he!

SUNRISE AT THE SEA SHORE.

And exquisite places We never saw here and will ne'er see again.

Enter REGINAQUAE. My lot is unhappy, My hopes are forlorn; I've frequently wished

I never was born. On land I will wander, Create a furore;
I'll crush all the young men—
The old ones will awe.

First Maid. Beware! beware! Second Maid. Of beauty you're possessed, But Pater Neptune says 'tis sacrilege For water-maids to dwell upon the land.

Third Maid.

And at Northport, 'tis said, is worse than all To lose a heart, to stumble and to fall.

Reg. Why speak such words to me?

I'll go in spite of them and have my fun.

[Exit Reg.

[Exit Reg.

Chorus. Yes, she's gone to have some fun, Foolish maid! We're afraid she'll be outdone
With no aid. Female beauty on the land Is so scarce, we understand, That she may, we apprehend,

Be dismayed. (The chorus of mermaids slowly sink beneath the waves.)

ACT II.

Scene—Breezy Point. Enter REGINAQUAE looking disconsolate.

I will speak to this mermaid, by gad!

For, upon my de-ah soul, it's not bad!

Dearest mermaid, Wie Gehts!

How that voice animates! Reg.

If I can't make a mash 'twill be sad.
(She slyly turns around).
My heart pants beneath my breast,
My face is hot and I'm possessed
Of what to me has hitherto

A stranger been. Pray tell me true What is my malady. Recline,

My dear, and rest your head on me
And I will tell you presently.

(He softly sings to her.) When a woman is young—say about sixteen—And her spirit is careless and free

There are moments of yearning for something unseen, There are touches of what is to be.

But be still, my dearest maid, I've not made it known What that is, which the rain from above,

Nor the fog, nor the wind, nor a western Can appease. Well, I'll tell you: it's love. (Chorus of mermaids in the distance. The couple flee like frightened deer.)

First Maid. She's near, I vow, for voices two

I heard, And what convinces more—this rock is warm. In warming rocks she'd waste no time, unless in company.

Second Maid. Discover her we must. (Exit Chorus, singing, "Tho' bred, &c.") ACT III.

Scene-So. Shore.

Enter two H. C. DUDES, apparently twins, followed by attendants with swords, also doctors with bandages, stretchers, etc.

DUET,
Our affections, like minds that are great
In the same channel scak an egress.

But the way to decide
Who with her will abide
Is to fight at a hundred—no less.
First D. A hundred yards with swords! ah,

To think 'twould come to this! to be The victim of a bloody fray!
The only blood I've seen to-day
Is that of cunners skinned alive.
I'll rest awhile—and when arrive
The fatal swords—

First D. Great heavens! let Shylock have his tool. (Whets his knife on his boot.)

Attendant. Why whet'st thy knife so, millionaire?

lionaire i First D. To cut the gizzard from that student there.

there.

Enter REGINAQUAE disguised as Mrs. Lo, with a basket on her arm. She seats herself at a respectful distance. In the meantime a hundred yards have been measured off and the duelists have taken their positions.

First D. A drink of—quick! I'm faint!

My courage fast is oozing out;

My love, as well, for her is not So strong as 'twas.

Second D. Nor mine! let's shake

And prick each other with a pin And swear it was a wound.

And swear it was a wound. First 1). She's not

So pretty after all. And soon
We'll find another so to sell.

[They shake.]

DUET.

We are mashers of Northport We're important and in great demand. It is one on this day,

It is one on that day,
And we laugh at them all—in our hand.
(They discover Reginaquae.)
First D. Who is this?
Second D. I cannot tell;

t D. Who is this?

Ind D. I cannot tell;

No doubt some one with goods to sell.

Now let us swear about this spree,

Be ever veil and mystery.

(They swear and start to go.)

When a woman is young—say about sixteen-Goodness me! What was that? Don't you hear? There are moments of yearning for something unseen—

. By gad! 'tis the mermaid, I fear.
(Reginaquae unmasks and stands before

Reg. (Sings) Tho' my lot at sea
Was evidently
Very hard for me to bear,
I'll never complain,
Seek a home on the main,
Or otherwise pull my own hair Or otherwise pull my own hair. Tho' on Northport's Shore The climate and style

Are everything one could desire,
You men are unsafe,
For a mermaid waif,
Her happiness must be sought higher.

(She waves her hand, and out of the water appear the chorus of mermaids. They sing, "We are daughters of Neptune, etc.")

Now, sisters dear, in penitence
I crave your pardon and your grace.
orus. Tho' bred in the water We think it no matter

Occasionally to flirt with the men. But listen, young ladies, Of whatever ages—
If you've flirted but once, don't do it again.

OUR CANTATA.

We say "our cantata" because the entertainment on the Grounds last Thursday was the first attempt of anything of the kind ever made here, and it is but the forerunner and initiative of the future. We can best report it by simply saying it was a success throughout.

The day was magnificent, and never did Northport show to better advantage. The clean, fresh lawns and parks; the golden sunshine glinting through the shimmering leaves; the smooth surfaced bay; the heat of the day and the glare of the sun tempered to refreshing shade and coolness by the sea breeze stealing through the shadowy groves; and the good natured, well behaved, and happy crowd taking a vacation day, all conspired to make the day and the occasion one long to be remembered in the annals of Northport.

David the Shepherd Boy was rendered by the soloists and the large chorus in a manner satisfactory and pleasing to the vast crowd of spectators. The huge auditorium formed by enclosing the "circle" with canvas walls, was well adapted to the occasion, and the powerful colored calcium lights showed the stage and performers to the best advantage. It is estimated there were nearly five thousand persons on the Grounds during the afternoon, and nearly three thousand were seated in the vast amphitheater during the evening's performance.

The music by the Bangor band was very fine, and several cornet solos by Mr. Hall, the director, elicited hearty applause and encores. We have not space to particularize, but great credit is due Prof. Torrens who had full charge of the production of the cantata, and to Dr. E. T. Wasgatt who so successfully conducted the business management, upon which the success of any entertainment so much depends.

As we have said we consider this only the beginning-the initiative of appropriate entertainments on the Grounds, which will be given in the future, and its success will do much to ensure future successes, as well as to say a good word for Northport in the minds and opinions of the thousands who visited us and saw us as we are.

THE NEW ROAD. The more we reflect about and discuss the question of the proposed road along the shore around the Bluff to the Cove, the more are we impressed with the advisability of its construction. As we have before stated the road will be built-it is only a question of time, but what is needed is to have it commenced at an early day, so that the good which must result will begin to set in.

Another thing it is well for all interested to consider. If we expect Northport to grow as a summer resort the same as other places along the coast of Maine the road is not only advisable but it is a neccessity. The fact is there can only be a small annual growth here now and Northport has reached its height of prosperity comparatively, but once let the sites along shore be opened up by the new road and it is given a lease of growth and prosperity for at least ten years more.

About 200 guests have registered at the Waverley during the past week.

Residents having visitors from abroad, whom they wish reported, will please hand in the names prior to Friday.

Regular preaching service will be held to-morrow, Sunday, A. M., and prayer meeting in the evening at the large cottage.

A huge excursion by the Boston boat from Rockland, brought over the Knox & L. R. R., is booked for here next Monday.

J. E. Mayo, of Belfast, has built and and Pavilion sts., for sale of confectionery, &c.

The calcium lights Thursday evening under the charge of Mr. C. E. Lovell of Bangor, were a success. Cannot they be obtained for Camp-meeting week.

A very pleasant tripping of the light fantastic is reported at Cunningham's Hall, on the Belfast road, last evening. It will be repeated next Thursday evening.

The most "spectatored" arrival by the Steamer Florence Wednesday, was an organ grinder and his monkey. Of course we must have all the modern improvements.

The cottages are all open and the season at Northport is at its height. The demand for cottages for camp-meeting week is greater than the supply and prices range from $12 to $25 for the week.

We understand official measures have been taken to prevent the dispensing of too much spirit-ual comfort in the vicinity of the. Grounds. Just right. We cannot afford to get a bad record.

Steamer May Queen has gone off theroute, and the steamer Florence, of Capt. Barbour's line Bangor, is on the Belfast, Northport and Castine route. See ad. for particulars and time table.

The wharf line-men have "struck" and there are no regular line-takers for the Boston boats. We are informed they "strike" not for higher pay but because the company refuse to pay their last season's bill.

Swan Lake, popularly known as Goose Pond, in Swanville. has become quite a place of summer rural resort. There are several cottages and camps all filled with rusticators. It is located about five miles north of Belfast.

Meetings at the new Spiritual Camp-Ground at Verona just below Bucksport, will commence Wed., Aug. 15th, and close Tues., Aug. 21st. Accommodations for the convenience of the public are being rapidly completed. Cottages are being erected, and able speakers are engaged.

The first annual Camp-meeting at Temple Heights, Northport, just below the Bluff, will strations are not from the heart. be held next week, Aug. 17th, 18th, and 19th. We learn about $600 has been expended There has been a large amount of work done with their eyes looking downward, and on the wharf in putting it in its present fine on their grounds and grove lately, in clearing thoughts that are earthborn they will find condition, and that Mr. Ruggles, the Supt. of up, building seats, cottages, &c., &c., in preparthose things that are of the earth earthy. In justice to him there should be duced rates have been made over the railroad aggregate and what we see in a great measure Grounds. Indications are favorable for a huge measures taken to raise the sum and secure to Belfast, and by the steamers. The small depends upon whether or not we look through crowd at Camp-meeting, and not a roof will boats will land at the ground.

A few cottages were very finely illuminated Thursday evening after the cantata.

The large platform erected for the cantata will probably remain for use during Campmeeting.

Extra numbers of the SEA BREEZE can be had at the Waverley House. Back numbers of No. 1, are exhausted.

It will be Northport's turn next to have a mountain railroad, from the foot of the Bluff, at the shore, to the top of Mt. Percival.

Averill & Shorey of Oldtown have opened an ice cream tent on So. Shore. We know their creams are good because we have sampled them.

Two nice cottages on So. Shore, can be rented the week before camp-meeting. Inquire of N. Mansfield on the premises, or of A. P. Mansfield, Masonic Temple, Belfast.

Isaac M. Beckett of Belfast, has purchased the Arey cottage on Broadway, and with his sisters, Mrs. Hunnewell and Mrs. Lothrop and family, will occupy it for the season.

A candy pull at the Garland cottage Monday evening brought out a crowd of the Misses opened a booth at corner of So. Shore Av. Garland's friends. The S. B. acknowledges the receipt of an invite, but business cares called us another way. 'Twas ever thus the sweet things of life pass us by.

> One year ago the New England Organ Company of Boston opened a branch office in Belfast for the purpose of giving the people of this county an opportunity to purchase a firstclass Piano or Organ direct of the manufacturers, saving about 25 per cent, the profit usually paid to an agent. Nearly one hundred customers availed themselves of the opportunity.

Encouraged by so large and unexpected a patronage, the company will continue the store which they have newly fitted and enlarged, and would be pleased to see all thinking of purchasing either an organ or piano. See their advertisement.

CAMP-MEETING. It has become the custom in certain quarters and among a certain class of people to sneer at camp-meetings, either openly or insinuatingly, and doubt their results for good upon the masses and in the community.

For any one who attends a camp-meetings with the true purpose of worship, the pleasantest recollections and the noblest feelings cluster around these woods. No place is more suited to the worship of God than in a leafy grove, under the open sky, and where each breeze rustles the leaves above. It is then that man has his purest thoughts, his mind is refreshed, he is near to nature's heart and his heart answers hers. He who speaks of the corrupting influence of camp-meeting knows not his subject. He has never felt the rush of feelings which comes to the soul in these holy days of summer worship. It is the vacation of the Christian. There is hard work in a Christian life—his path is not strewn with flowers, and these days of refreshing send him back to his daily life, refreshed in body and soul. Let the cynics look upon the throng that gather beneath the shade, exchange words of Christian greeting and clasp hands with brotherly feeling, and say if he can that there can be no good in such associations as these, and that their demon-

PERSONALITIES.

A full "drive" of musical celebrities have been here this week, but we have not space to particularize except those referred to in report of cantata. - Fred. S. Walls and family of Vinalhaven, have taken possession of their cottage for the season. --- Miss Annabel Dodge of Portland, is spending her vacation with her grandfather, James Lancaster, at the Cove.—Robert Patterson's family of Poors Mills, Belfast, with friends, are at their "Bijou" cottage, So. Shore.—A party of Belfast boys have been loafing at Tuttle's cottage, Maple street, for the past ten days. The S. B. acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to breakfast at 5 A. M., but the sea breeze doesn't set in so early in the day, thank you. T. L. Tellison's family of Oldtown, have arrived at their cottate below Breezy Point.-W. B. Snow and wife of Brewer, have been guests at the Sargent cottage.- John H. Rich and family of Pittsfield, have been some time vacationing in Knowlton's cottage near the "sad sea waves."-Rev. David Brackett and family are stopping for a season at the Monroe Society cottage. S. E. Stubbs of Bucksport, has arrived at his cottage on Broadway. -The twin cottages on Broadway with the unpronouncable foreign names are both occupied.—Thos. S. Rich and family of Boston are recreating here for a season.---Misses Ada Estes and Carrie Downer of Waterville, are vacationizing at the Hampden Society cottage.—The Rankinites treated themselves to a second hay-rack ride to Belfast this week. -Messrs. Thorndike, Field, and Washburn of Belfast, and friends, have been occupying Shady cottage this week .- Chas. Megguier and family of Corinth, have arrived at their cottage on So. Shore. Misses Nellie Lancey of Pittsfield, Nettie Clark of Rockland, Jennie Catland and Lou Comery of Thomaston, are stopping at Mrs. W. W. Rice's. Among the late guests at R. C. Rankin's are Mrs. Frank Howe, Mrs. A. E. Graves and two daughters, Miss Abbie Peasley, and H. B. Rankin, all of Boston .- R. A. Rich of Winterport, President of the Association, with family, is domiciled in his cottage on Clinton Court .--- A. P. Richardson, and W. H. Richardson's family of Brewer, are at their cottage for the season on Clinton Av. --- S. I. Abbott's family of Waterville, with friends, have arrived at their "Abbott" cottage on Griffin St.-L. A. Dow of Brigadier's Island, just across the bay, pulled the S. B. latch-string at Clear View Thursday. He has just finished putting in 150 tons of hay and deserves a vacation at Northport.---Mrs. Hall, Ames, Hicks and Verrill of Rockland, are at Brown cottage near the wharf.-Dr. Eaton of Rockport has leased Cosy cottage on Broadway and will hang out his shingle next week .- Mrs. R. E. Edgeley, Miss Edgeley, Mrs. E. A. Hardy, and Albra Hardy, of Hampden, are guests of J. G. Damon at Chery Grove. --- We were pleased to see Bro. C. A. Southard's smiling features here Thursday. He is very popular with his society at Rockland. --- Mrs. Olivette Staples, Misses Maud Gammans and Dode Newell of City Point Belfast, and Mrs. Black, of Chelsea, are rusticating at Poplar cottage So. Shore and have Miss Helen York and Harry Brown and wife, of Boston, as guests .- Rev. T. Gerrish, of Bangor, who will soon be famous as the great church debt raiser, was here and said how dye do, Thursday.

Every cottage on So. Shore is occupied be allowed to go without its occupants.

ANOTHER COVE BREEZE.

Last Wednesday a most enjoyable excursion to the historic town of Castine was participated in by several of the guests at Shady Dell. A landing was effected at Turtle Head, where, thanks to the hospitality of the genial doctor, a clam bake was partaken of, after which the boat was headed for Castine, where a short visit was made to the various points of interest, and again embarking the party favored by a stiff breeze soon reached the point of departure. On the return trip a novel exhibition of broom drilling was given by several of the ladies, all of whom showed great dexterity in the manipulation of what is commonly known as the woman's weapon. Miss Crane was especially noteworthy, and the facility with which she handled the stick would leave one to wish he might never excite her ire.

The music furnished by the Shady Dell orchestra was of a pleasing and varied description, and fully justified the pride which the guests of the house feel in the success of the "Happy Four."

Messrs. Maliff and Crotty rendered the tower scene from "Il Trovatore" in a most charming manner, and as an encore played the old, yet ever new, "Coming through the Rye."

Mr. Fred Carruth of Boston entertained the company with several beautiful selections. His voice showed to perfection in his favorite piece "Midship mite," and the artistic manner in which he rendered it failed not to draw forth hearty applause.

For the successful result of the day's trip great credit is due Capt. Clark, and the earnest wish of all is that they may soon again have the pleasure of participating in a trip on the Sea Breeze.

MT. PERCIVAL. The owner of Mt, Percival is a genious in his way, a little excentric perhaps, but with broad streaks of humor and sommon sense in his makeup, as will be seen by his advertisement copied herewith:

TO see the man that will pay a reasonable price to possess the most desirable and enchanting spot on earth of seventy acres, location Dirigo State, summit of Mt. Percival, whose shores are washed by the Atlantic Ocean. Tourists from all quarters of the globe say the view from its summit is more ravishing than can be obtained from any other mountain. than can be obtained from any other mountain. Looking landward from the south to northwest and horizon are seen city and hamlets, forests and fields, cattle, horses and sheep upon a thousand hills and meadows, grazing. Sea-ward from northwest to south and Atlantic Ocean can be seen the most beautiful bay in the world and more than three hundred islands, where sailing vessels and steamers are seen cruising in their channels and harbors. Near the summit is a well spring of life, where per-sons can drink who desire perfect health and length of days.

For the benefit of those who think they will be selected for President 1884, and wish to be posted in regard to the trail they must follow to be elected, I will say that it was possible for James A. Garfield to be elected President after James A. Garfield to be electronic standing upon this mountain, not before.

101 July 17, 1883. H. E. PEIRCE.

Squirrel Island has been "censused" and reports 636 inhabitants. We estimate the residents at Northport to be not less than twice that number, and the crowd is yet to come.

THE SEA BREEZE. Northport, Maine.

SEASIDE SEASON, 1883.

ABOUT NORTHPORT.

HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE.

It is but a few years since our quiet, cozy, pleasant, little seaside resort at Northport, where old ocean rolls in his waves at our feet, and the cooling breezes sigh through shady groves on the shores of the grand old Penobscot bay, was little more than an unbroken wilderness.

In 1848 the East Maine Methodist C. M. Association located here, purchasing 25 acres of land. In August, 1849, the first Campmeeting was held here, and for nearly twentyfive years it was occupied only a week each year for meetings, with no indication that it would ever become a popular summer resort.

But with the growing fashion for spending summer vacations at the seaside, the attention of the people in this section of the State was turned toward Northport, as a desirable place for summer residences. The pioneer cottage was built in 1869, and several purchases of land have been made since, and the whole is enclosed under the Society's control.

As the place became better known, and its attractions of pure air, cleanliness, quietude and all other virtues which go to make up a pleasant and needful place of resort, were fully understood, it began to grow, and during the past five years it has become so thickly studded with cottages as to resemble a village, while all along the shore, on either side of the Grounds, the movement has kept pace, and the shore, almost from Belfast city to several miles beyond the Grounds, is thickly dotted with cottages of summer residents, many of them being costly and valuable as well as stylish. There are 175 cottages on and in the immediate vicinity of the Grounds, more being built annually.

Real estate has increased in value wonderfully, until what was supposed and valued as the poorest part of Northport is the most valuable and pays the most taxes.

The view from the Grounds' seaward and from the cottages along the shore is beautiful, for the whole broad expanse of Penobscot Bay lies before us-a bay which travelers say rivals the far-famed Bay of Naples, dotted here and there with the white sails of lumberladen vessels from Bangor, or swift flying sailboats, and daily with majestic steamers plowing past and sending billowy, surfy waves breaking with hollow roar against the shore, while at the south the islands stand guard to keep out the rough Atlantic storms. Across to eastward is the village of Castine, ancient historical and modern educational ground, while at the north lies Brigadier's Island and the villages of Stockton and Searsport, with the spires and harbor of Belfast in the near distance.

The facilities for recreation are fine. There is good bathing and rowing, and fine drives in the neighborhood, Belfast being near and Mt. Percival or the Bluff only a mile off, from which can be obtained a splendid view of the scenery in the neighborhood; the sailing is safe and roomy, and the fishing privileges fine within a stone's throw of the shore.

One of the greatest advantages of Northport. as a summer resort, is the location and conveniences for reaching and leaving here at short notice. The Boston boats touch at the wharf daily to and from Boston and intermediate landings to Bangor. Small steamers ply daily to and from Bangor, Belfast, Castine and Islesboro, while hacks connect with the Me. Central R. R. at Belfast, a short distance up shore, from where trains leave twice a day for all parts of the country.

Waverley House,

Northport Camp-Ground, Me.

C. H. BUSWELL, Propr.

As Northport is beautifully situated on the Penobscot Bay, and has become one of the pleasantest and most popular Summer Resorts in Maine, the WAYERLEY specially commends itself to the public.

A daily line of Steamers and excursion boats ply between this place and Boston, Bangor and all points on the river and bay. Excellent stage acommodations connect with all passenger trains to and from Belfast, First-class board by day or week at reasonable rates, and no pains will be spared to make the WAVERLEY first-class in all its appointments.

A first-class baker will be employed so that families living or tenting on the Grounds can be accommodated with all the bread and beans wanted.

If you want plenty of shade, cooling breezes, quiet and ease, reasonable prices, convenient and quick transportation, fine sailing, boating and fishing, and to breath in the pure, sait, invigorating sea air, come to Northport, and visit the Waverley.

THE REASON.

"On land and sea reposes
The moonshine cold and white,
The perfume of the roses Fills all the air of night.

The breeze is running riot O'er ocean's distant blue, No sounds disturb our quiet, Our solitude for two

In one harmonious chorus Night's voices all seem blent, Night's charm is stealing o'er us, And yet-we're not content.

'Tis not that love has vanished, 'Tis not that we forget,
'Tis not that hope is banished And leaves us but regret.

Our thoughts are far asunder As earth and ocean's pearls-It isn't any wonder; You see we both are girls!"

"THEY SAY!"

The SEA BREEZE says: That the weather can be chalked down as of A I quality, Vennor or any other man to the contrary notwithstanding.

That it wouldn't be a bad idea to have some lanterns to guide pedestrians o' nights through the leafy groves of So. Shore, from the rink.

That the S. B. reporter was taken aback somewhat by the startling appearance of a supposed mermaid at an upper cottage window way down on So. Shore, during a morning stroll after the news.

That some young men who were out till nearly down to the wee sma' hours lately were dangerously frightened by the ghostly appearance of Billy G. Peanuts for the crowd.

That the stowage capacity of that hammock was fully tested

That like Jonah's gourds, the small venders of various articles spring up in a night and hang out their shingles all around the Grounds.

That Uncle Rowe has imported a lacteal machine and will no longer depend on the local supply.

That the girls are more numerously represented than the boys at all the seashore resorts

That the sunshades are larger than ever this year, but still only large enough to cover a couple.

That our illustrations are a pleasing and appropriate feature. What do you think?

That the powers that be should be gently nudged till the rolling stones are raked from the streets and hill roads.

That Northport summer seasons wear better and better as life wears away.

That last Wednesday evening was the most beautiful for the season for rowing, and the bay was full of 'em.

That some of our State papers are running their "they say" columns too thin. "Emptins," or gall; which?

After the cantata, what? Camp-meeting. The Boston and Bangor steamers make regular landings, twice daily.

Good by to the thud, thud! of the piledriver. The wharf is finished.

There were over 300 visitors at the Pavilion skating rink, So. Shore, last Saturday it resembled a Boston runner. Why? Because night. It has become very popular.

The advance guard of the crowd is arriving, and tents are being pitched here and there in the cool and shady locations.

will all be to see us next week. All right. There's room and to spare at Northport.

The great public event of Sunday mornsay howdye'do and good bye.

A WHIFF FROM THE OLD COVERS.

On the principle that "one good turn deserves another" we thought that a whiff from some "Old Covies" might not be unwelcome. To a mere passer by the beauties of Saturday Cove are not discovered and we who have become so to speak "old residents," are jealous of sharing our treasures and losing our seclu-

The "Bay View House" kept by Mr. and Mrs. Job Herrick, does not belie it nomenclature. Standing on a hill such as Maine only produces, its view of the glorious Penobscot Bay is unequalled in this locality; which together with the health giving and soul-cheering air is keenly appreciated by the visitors at this house, who year after year turn their faces toward this haven of rest. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Reed, of New York City, are summering here for the seventh season, Mrs. H. A. Young and family, from Boston, and Mrs. Henry White and family from Montclair, N. J. are counting their fifth summer, and Mrs. R. Kendricks and family, from Boston, prove their appreciation of the Cove by coming three successive years to the hospitable roof of Mrs. Herrick.

Bathing, fishing, rowing, sailing, are the constant occupation. Clams, lobsters, and the fish of different families, are abundant. The points of interest along the granite-bouldered, wooded shore are numerous; the "cunnerledges" being an unfailing resort for that favorite pan-fish, and the ledges rise so boldly from the water, that craft of large draught can safely sail under their shadows.

A row of twenty minutes takes one to Flat Island, that elysium of clams—a little longer row to Islesboro, whose picturesquely indented coast, with its fascinating stretches of sandy beach alternating with rocky points and pine groves proved most alluring to Job Herrick's boarders last Saturday morning, when they sailed over in Capt. Drinkwater's new yacht "Flossie" by invitation of Mr. Reed, who has chartered the yacht for the season. The day was perfect, and the excursion much enjoyed by the participators.

The sail to "Turtle Head" and "Long Island Light," Seal Cove, Crow Cove, Little Harbor and other places too numerous to mention, have each their attractions.

About a mile and a half from the Bay View House over a good road and "Beech Hill"from which a most commanding view is obtained-is "Knight's Pond"-a lovely sheet of water, worthy of a grander name. It has a charm for the connoisseur fisherman, for in its sweet waters, pickerel, to tempt the daintiest epicure are to be had by those sufficiently versed in the piscatorial art; and pure white water lilies perfume the air with their innumerable blossoms.

We eagerly welcome each copy of the "SEA BREEZE" with its clear type and pretty paper, and wish that it may long waft its exhilaration to both "Old Covers"—and new comers.

BARBARA.

Tinkers are small and wary of the hook.

A young lady vacationist caught her first sculpin off the wharf this week and thought it had such an open countenance, and took her bait so easily.

This is what Vennor prognosticates: This Our cousins and our uncles and our aunts, part of the Maine coast will be freer from storms and rainfall during this month than any other section of the Atlantic coast. ple in the mountains however are likely to have cold snow flurries about mid-month and splendid weather for pedestrianism. We shall experience a hot wave to perfection very shortly now in the shape of a "regular steamer" Boston. A crowd is always on the wharf to for the space of a week. After that it will be much cooler.
